Project Title: Bauhaus Website

1. Project overview

The goal of this website is to be informational, but to present the Bauhaus in a way that feels like the Bauhaus itself. The school was only open for 14 years, but it changed how we think about design, and I want the site to show that through both its content and its look.

2. Resources

Copy is available at https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Bauhaus, along with some photography of the buildings, furniture, and artwork. Additional images are available from museum collections and Google Images.

3. Audience

This is an informational site and won't be promoted commercially. It will be part of my portfolio, so my instructors will review it and future employers may see it. The audience is mostly design students, designers, and anyone interested in art and architecture.

4. Message

I want to show that the Bauhaus is the reason so much of modern design looks the way it does. Its idea of combining art, craft, and function still shapes the buildings, furniture, and graphics we see every day.

5. Tone

The tone should be confident, clean, and modern, with a sense of history. It should feel more like a well-designed exhibit than a textbook.

6. Visual Style

The site should borrow directly from the Bauhaus visual language: a strong grid, lots of white space, primary colors (red, yellow, and blue) with black and white, and simple geometric shapes like circles, squares, and triangles. Type should be a clean, geometric sans-serif, with large, bold headlines. Photos of Bauhaus buildings and objects should be shown large and in black and white where possible, so the color accents stand out.
